

PRIVATE HIRE / AD HOC TRANSPORT MANAGEMENT

Have you considered how much staff time is spent booking coaches for ad hoc journeys? Are your academic and support staff getting best value for money, or are they booking most of their work with the same coach companies?

Our ad hoc transport booking system can help. We work with you to identify existing coach operators who you like to work with, and we also introduce you to new, high quality operators who have passed our stringent audit process.

We complete on-site audits at all of our operators, whereby a qualified Transport Manager reviews policies, procedures and paperwork to allow operators the opportunity to demonstrate that they are compliant with statutory requirements and best practice.

You then log on to a secure portal to request journeys with any size of vehicle, from a taxi or minibus up to a high capacity coach or even a double decker bus.

We seek quotations from approved suppliers in your area, and select the best value option, factoring in length of journey, previous experience with each supplier and of course the price quoted.

We're unique in this market in that we're not a coach broker, and don't make any commission whatsoever when we place a booking on your behalf. This allows us to work with a much wider range of operators than our competitors, because many operators refuse to work with brokers.
